THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

DAILY GAZETTE.

How Manassas was Captured by One Yankee.

WASHINGTON, March 13, 1862.

The true history of the conquest of the rebel strongholds in Virginia has not yet been written. Journals which make conflicting statements as to whether Col. Averill's Pennsylvania cavalry, or a New Jersey regiment of Infantry, is entitled to the honor of being the first to enter the works at Centerville, are apparently ignorant that both were preceded some hours by an advance corps hailing from a New England state.

Last Saturday night or Sunday morning a citizen of Massachusetts, a yankee peddler, some say, whose name is unfortunately not yet in our possession, of roving propensities, and believed to be laboring under the "On to Richmond" hallucination, so odious to all persons in their right mind, was crazy enough to make a forward movement. Our pickets, probably considering it impossible that a monomaniac could convey information to the enemy, or in any way prejudice the success of the Union army or rob Gen. McClellan of his well-earned laurels, did not prevent him from pushing beyond our lines. He flanked the Fairfax Court House works, finding that they had but a single front, took possession of the Court House and village, where he was welcomed by the strong Union feeling of the remaining inhabitants as a deliverer, and regaled with bacon and wretched whiskey. On Sunday he marched on toward Centerville, and after a thorough reconnoisance, stormed the rebel works there, and although there were cannon to the left of him, and cannon to the right of him, as well as cannon in front, made a breech large enough to admit the whole body under his command, and took possession and occupied the place on Sunday night, in the name of yankeedom, hoisting a rag-flag. Here too, the people assured him that they had suffered for the Union, and desired to be paid damages. After receiving the congratulations of these oppressed and suffering patriots, the Massachusetts leader turned to contemplate the intrenchments which he had won by strategy and without the shedding of blood. The enemy had, it appeared, fled in complete panic, carrying their field pieces with them, but abandoned the heavy artillery, which there was no time to remove. These black cannon were also Union now, and

"Hailed him with feverish lips,"

He contemplated in mute astonishment these sheep in lions' skins, black-muzzled but wooden "quakers," forced into the service of slavery. But aware that the war was to be "short but desperate," determined to make that "general movement upon the insurgent forces," in conformity with the President's first war order, which, although fixed for February 22, he was the first on the Potomac to carry into effect, on Monday morning he pushed on. Crossing Bull Run, pursuing the flying foe across the historic fields of the 21st of July, he approaches Manassas, and, without firing a shot, took possession and halted for the night. Satisfied with his achievements, he determined to make no further pursuit, at present, but to rest upon his laurels in Washington as commanders higher in rank, if not superior in capacity, had done.

Meantime the grand army of the Potomac, of which this advance corps was not a part, having learned from some fugitive slaves, who knew no better than to tell the truth to their enemies, who, in the absence of white testimony, hesitated to believe them, had cautiously moved forward. At midnight on Sunday several divisions took up their march toward Manassas. Light cavalry scoured the roads, skirmishers felt the woods, columns of infantry, supported by artillery, marched steadily forward. In the course of Monday, detachments of the army of the Potomac reached Fairfax and Centerville.

At two o'clock of that day Gen. McClellan parted with his wife, according to the approved Hector and Midromache fashion, and amid the waving of handkerchiefs from the most highly-born ladies of Washington, attended by more or fewer of his forty-nine aids, and followed by his twenty-six sumptuous baggage-wagons, which have as two of our oldest, soberest, and most distinguished and influential senators agree, cost the country $200,000,000, took the field. On Tuesday he reached Centreville. Then and there the Massachusetts civilian turned over the rebel strongholds to the four corps d'armee.

Should a change be made in the command of the army of the Potomac, we trust that the unknown Massachusetts man who conquered Manassas, will receive the promotion he deserves. It is not true, as rumored, that his pass has been revoked by Gen. McClellan.—N. Y. Tribune.

"QUAKER GUNS."—Our readers will remember that a private letter from Richmond, printed in these columns February 28th, from a gentleman whose opportunities of observation were among the best, stated positively that the rebels had less than 200,000 men in the field, and that their force on the line of the Potomac did not exceed 6,000 men. The latter particular of his intelligence has received singular confirmation within the last two days. It is acknowledged by those who have examined the works of Manassas that the army encamped there, and for so many months occupied our own army of 200,000 men, and with its "Quaker" guns and ingenious boldness of pickets so deceived our military authorities—that this great Manassas army did not really number sixty thousand men; while the "Gibralter of Virginia" is nothing but an immense humbug. It is not very surprising that Englishmen, who, like Sir James Ferguson and others, visited the Manassas lines, and afterward saw, within our own, what a vast force the rebels were holding in check with their small army, went home despising the "federals," and full of admiration of the rebels and faith in their success.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy

in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and credit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and specified statements of their condition, and without a cash capital on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances three times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company.

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,000,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

DAILY GAZETTE.

How Manassas was Captured by One Yankee.

WASHINGTON, March 13, 1862.

The true history of the conquest of the rebel strongholds in Virginia has not yet been written. Journals which make conflicting statements as to whether Col. Averill's Pennsylvania cavalry, or a New Jersey regiment of infantry, is entitled to the honor of being the first to enter the works at Centerville, are apparently ignorant that both were preceded some hours by an advance corps hailing from a New England state.

Last Saturday night or Sunday morning a citizen of Massachusetts, a yankee peddler, some say, whose name is unfortunately not yet in our possession, of roving propensities, and believed to be laboring under the "On to Richmond" hallucination, so odious to all persons in their right mind, was crazy enough to make a forward movement. Our pickets, probably considering it impossible that a monomaniac could convey information to the enemy, or in any way prejudice the success of the Union army or rob Gen. McClellan of his well-earned laurels, did not prevent him from pushing beyond our lines. He flanked the Fairfax Court House works, finding that they had but a single front, took possession of the Court House and village, where he was welcomed by the strong Union feeling of the remaining inhabitants as a deliverer, and regaled with bacon and wretched whiskey. On Sunday he marched on toward Centerville, and after a thorough reconnoisance, stormed the rebel works there, and although there were cannon to the left of him, and cannon to the right of him, as well as cannon in front, made a breach large enough to admit the whole body under his command, and took possession and occupied the place on Sunday night, in the name of yankeedom, hoisting a rag-flag. Here too, the people assured him that they had suffered for the Union, and desired to be paid damages. After receiving the congratulations of these oppressed and suffering patriots, the Massachusetts leader turned to contemplate the intrenchments which he had won by strategy and without the shedding of blood. The enemy had, it appeared, fled in complete panic, carrying their field pieces with them, but abandoned the heavy artillery, which there was no time to remove. These black cannon were also Union now, and

He contemplated in mute astonishment these sheep in lions' skins, black-muzzled but wooden "quakers," forced into the service of slavery. But aware that the war was to be "short but desperate," determined to make that "general movement upon the insurgent forces," in conformity with the President's first war order, which, although fixed for February 22, he was the first on the Potomac to carry into effect, on Monday morning he pushed on. Crossing Bull Run, pursuing the flying foe across the historic fields of the 21st of July, he approaches Manassas, and, without firing a shot, took possession and halted for the night. Satisfied with his achievements, he determined to make no further pursuit, at present, but to rest upon his laurels in Washington as commanders higher in rank, if not superior in capacity, had done.

Meanwhile the grand army of the Potomac, of which this advance corps was not a part, having learned from some fugitive slaves, who knew no better than to tell the truth to their enemies, who, in the absence of white testimony, hesitated to believe them, had cautiously moved forward. At midnight on Sunday several divisions took up their march toward Manassas. Light cavalry scoured the roads, skirmishers felt the woods, columns of infantry, supported by artillery, marched steadily forward. In the course of Monday, detachments of the army of the Potomac reached Fairfax and Centerville.

At two o'clock of that day Gen. McClellan parted with his wife, according to the approved Hector and Midromache fashion, and amid the waving of handkerchiefs from the most highly-born ladies of Washington, attended by more or fewer of his forty-nine aids, and followed by his twenty-six sumptuous baggage-wagons, which have as two of our oldest, soberest, and most distinguished and influential senators agree, cost the country $200,000,000, took the field. On Tuesday he reached Centreville. Then and there the Massachusetts civilian turned over the rebel strongholds to the four corps d'armee.

Should a change be made in the command of the army of the Potomac, we trust that the unknown Massachusetts man who conquered Manassas, will receive the promotion he deserves. It is not true, as rumored, that his pass has been revoked by Gen. McClellan.—N. Y. Tribune.

"QUAKER GUNS."—Our readers will remember that a private letter from Richmond, printed in these columns February 28th, from a gentleman whose opportunities of observation were among the best, stated positively that the rebels had less than 200,000 men in the field, and that their force on the line of the Potomac did not exceed 6,000 men. The latter particular of his intelligence has received singular confirmation within the last two days. It is acknowledged by those who have examined the works of Manassas that the army encamped there, and for so many months occupied our own army of 200,000 men, and with its "Quaker" guns and ingenious boldness of pickets so deceived our military authorities—that this great Manassas army did not really number sixty thousand men; while the "Gibralter of Virginia" is nothing but an immense humbug. It is not very surprising that Englishmen, who, like Sir James Ferguson and others, visited the Manassas lines, and afterward saw, within our own, what a vast force the rebels were holding in check with their small army, went home despising the "federals," and full of admiration of the rebels and faith in their success.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

SINGER & CO.'S

STANDARD MACHINES,

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,

No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,

Reduced to $75.

Singer's Letter A Machine,

IS the best Machine in the world for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented,

FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy

in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the largest sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any other. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.

Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis.

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

New England Courage.

There was some good fighting at Newbern. The victory was, at last, bravely won by a bayonet charge, which sent the enemy flying from the field. Our western boys have been indulging in some exultation, of late, over their victories, and of their charges upon the enemy with cold steel. They may now learn that cold steel is not confined to the west, but is as characteristic of New England as of any portion of the country. The Massachusetts soldiers, according to accounts, especially distinguished themselves at the battle of Newbern. Her sons, everywhere, will feel a glow of pride in the recital of the deeds of that day.

The Revolution in the Art of War.

The experience obtained during the present rebellion will almost entirely change our ideas and practice in relation to coast and sea port defences, and naval warfare. It has been demonstrated by Commodore Foote, that iron-clad gunboats, of a size small enough to navigate the rivers of moderate dimensions, which penetrate in numerous directions throughout our territory, are more than sufficient to reduce any open battery that can be built. In case of a war with a foreign nation, gun boats of the same kind can be used against us, and the question arises how shall we defend ourselves? Certainly not by forts as now constructed. The business of laying up piles of brick and stone, calling them impregnable forts, must now be ended. Steam floating batteries having 500 pounders will distroy them. Such batteries may be built which can carry as large and as distructive ordnance as can be handled on land, and will have the immense advantage of floating and of changing position and location at the will of the commander. Forts, therefore, either casemated or open earthworks, will be abandoned, as a means of defence, wherever there are navigable waters, and their places supplied by floating batteries and gun boats. Much of the time spent by our West Point graduates in learning the art of engineering and the construction of forts will be dispensed with, and a new class of men will be employed, acquainted with the management of steam vessels and the navigation of rivers.

It may be that the whole art of war is to be revolutionized along with that of building forts and the construction of naval vessels. Of what benefit will be the marching and countermarching of men, and the display of strategy on land, if the important commercial points are to be held by the power having the strongest steam batteries and gun boats? Suppose our Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and our northern lakes were swarming with such steam monsters as the Merrimac and Monitor, and in all our rivers there were hostile iron plated gun boats, of what use would be the collection of masses of troops on shore to oppose them?

The rebels with their Merrimac, Com. Foote with his river gunboats, and Captain Ericsson with his Monitor, have startled military and naval men, and almost in a day a revolution has been accomplished in the art of war. The influence of recent events are felt and acknowledged by congress, where large appropriations have been made for a steam navy, while other appropriations for forts and the common sort of naval vessels will soon entirely cease. The quicker we adapt ourselves to the new state of things the better. The sooner our old wooden vessels are converted into iron-clad batteries, the safer will be our harbors.

This revolution in warfare will make it necessary for the nations of Europe to adapt themselves to it by large expenditures of money, and many of the foremost nations now heavily in debt, will find it difficult to keep pace with us, if we act promptly and vigorously.

We hope for another benefit from the revolution which must take place in war—we shall get rid of a class of military and naval men, who assume to know all about war, and really know nothing, while by the power of a caste they have fostered, they could prevent the displacement in any other manner. This exclusive military class contains so great an amount of disloyalty, together with inefficiency, that they have, with rare exceptions, already become odious to the people, and their dismissal from the positions they occupy, would be hailed with satisfaction.

WASHINGTON, March 14.

Dr. Russell, of the London Times, has gone into the prophetic business again. He is now in this city, and expresses the opinion that the rebels will be beaten within the next three months, and that the rebellion will be put down.

"Our own correspondent" ought to guess right once in his life, but his poor success in former predictions makes his present opinions only matters of curiosity.

GEN. HUNTER.—This officer, who was supposed to have been deprived of any independent command by the recent new arrangement of departments, has been assigned to South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

From Porter's Mortar Fleet.

[Correspondence of the Evening Post.]

UNITED STATES SCHOONER, NORFOLK SCHOONER, AT SEA, March 1, 1862.

Yesterday afternoon we fired our 13-inch mortar for the first time at sea. The wind was very light, the sea quiet and the day pleasant and sunny. In order to make the trial sufficiently thorough, the piece was loaded as if for actual bombardment, with the full charge of twenty pounds of powder and a shell weighing over two hundred lbs.

The mortar was trained directly a-beam, and received an elevation of about 45 degrees. The machinery for training the piece is remarkably compact, and, although difficult to understand, with its eccentric and other novel pieces of iron-mongery, seems to work with ease and precision. The foresail, foretopsail and the headsails of the schooner were lowered away and hauled over to windward. All the ships company, except the powder division, who were below attending to their peculiar duties, stood on deck, mostly in the rear of the piece. The word to fire was given, and almost immediately the stunning report followed. The mortar recoiled 18 inches, and as the shell went humming away all eyes were turned to see it explode.

The shell was half a minute in its flight, and when it burst was apparently several hundred feet in the air, and distant by computation more than two miles. All we saw of the explosion was the sudden appearance in the sky of a little cloud of smoke resembling a balloon. Ten seconds after first seeing the cloud we heard the report. It sounded like an answering gun from one of the ships in the offing. The little cloud slowly increased in size, and faded away till its outlines were lost.

EFFECT OF THE FIRING.

Several curious incidents attended the firing. The facings of the bulwarks between the ports on the larboard side, that from which the shell was thrown, were blown off and fell into the water. Several glass windows were broken in the ward room, and sashes were violently thrown open. The partition between the cabin and ward room was started, and tables were jostled out of place. But these little mishaps obviously resulted from the concussion of the air caused by the explosion of so heavy a charge, and were not produced by the recoil of the mortar. Persons who were on duty below say that the shock which the vessel felt was less severe than that attending the discharge of one of our 32-pounders.

THE FLEET IN SOUTHERN WATERS.

[Under date of March 3, our correspondent announces the arrival of the fleet in southern waters, but, for obvious reasons, we suppress the name of the place at which it has rendezvoused.—EDS.]

MARCH 3.—All the vessels composing the three divisions of the mortar fleet are now anchored in * * * * The Norfolk Packet, Oliver H. Lee and Maria J. Carlton arrived yesterday. The latter vessel experienced considerable rough weather. She lost her jibboom on the fourth night out, and on the sixth day rolled out her mainmast, which went by the board. Her commander gallantly held on, and arrived here after a passage of 26 days. She is the only vessel of the fleet whose voyage was not entirely prosperous. The schooner Dan Smith has not yet received her 32 pounders. With this exception the armament of all the vessels is complete. The Norfolk Packet is the only one which has tried her mortar.

It is said that the fleet will sail in squadron day after to-morrow.

WASHINGTON, March 17.

HOUSE.—The house passed the senate joint resolution, that if any state during the present rebellion shall make any appropriation to pay the volunteers of that state, the secretary of war is authorized to accept the same and cause it to be applied by the paymaster general to the payments designated by the legislative act making the appropriation, in the same manner as if appropriated by act of congress; and also to make any regulations that may be necessary for the disbursement and proper application of such funds for the specific purpose for which they may be appropriated by the several states.

The house concurred in the report of the committee of conference on the bill regulating sutlers, who are authorized to have a lien on the soldiers to only one sixth of the amount paid them. Penalties are annexed for violating this provision.

A resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of war to inform the house by whose authority certain vessels were recently chartered, and the amount of compensation to be paid for the same, &c.

Mr. Lovejoy, of Illinois, asked leave to introduce a resolution instructing the committee on the District of Columbia to inquire and report by what authority Mrs. Brisloe, of Georgetown, seized, or caused to be seized, two men, and had them sent to Baltimore and imprisoned in the jail, and whether such arrest and imprisonment were not in violation of the following provision in the constitution, which says: "No person shall be deprived of his life and liberty without due process of law."

Mr. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion was lost; yeas 43, nays 62.

The resolution was then passed.

The house went into committee of the whole on the tax bill, Mr. Colfax in the chair.

THE POTOMAC ARMY.—Mr. Forney, in a letter to his Philadelphia Press, states that when Gen. McClellan's grand army made its advance into Virginia, Sunday and Monday, many who had not estimated its numbers or its capacities were surprised at the magnitude and magnificence of the spectacle. The members of the British and French legations, who have been industrious in collecting all the available information in regard to this war, confess that they were astonished at the splendid material of the army, its almost perfect discipline and its admirable appointments. How it is to be subsisted in a country desolated by war will be one of the main difficulties of those having it in charge. Every pound of ammunition, forage and rations must be conveyed from the base of operations, or, should a junction be effected with Gen. Wool, from Fortress Monroe. Gen. McClellan left Washington on Monday. His reception among the troops, as he passed to their head, was one of the grandest ever witnessed in the country. The largest body of men ever put in motion at once since the battle of Solferino moved from the banks of the Potomac on that day. For many miles, on divers roads, the embattled ranks pressed forward, and the cheers that hailed the general at one point of the lines were taken up by regiment after regiment, and division after division, until the whole vast army rent the heavens with shouts of welcome. Gen. McClellan rode through the ranks in motion, his cap ever in his hand, returning the salutes of the enthusiastic soldiers.

THE FEAST OF PURIM.—The Jewish feast of Purim was celebrated last Sunday and Monday. This the great feast of rejoicing among all Israelites, and was instituted in memory of their deliverance from the conspiracy of Haman, as recorded in the Scripture book bearing the name of the beautiful Persian queen. The religious exercises on these occasions are peculiarly interesting and impressive.

Last Night's Report.

BALTIMORE, March 18.

Sergeant Major D. H. Johnson, of the 23d Massachusetts regiment, came a passenger by the steamer Commodore. From him we gather the following interesting particulars: Our troops under Gen. Burnside, landed on Thursday evening near the mouth of Swan Creek, on the west side of Nuese river, fifteen miles below Newbern. Owing to a dense fog the naval vessels did not participate in the fight.

Early on Friday morning the fight commenced: Our troops advanced along the country road, running parallel with the Nuese river, but a mile or two in the rear. The road was skirted on the west side by a railroad and dense swamp. All along the river side were a series of batteries which were taken by our troops, one after another after a bloody hand to hand contest. Our troops were divided into three brigades under Gens. Reno, Foster and Parks. We advanced gradually, the enemy deserting their guns, until we reached a line of earthworks extending across the road from the river to the swamp, on the west, a distance of some two miles. These earthworks were very strong. They were located about two miles south of Newbern, and between there and the city ran the river Trent. The country road and the railroad both passed through these works, and crossed into the city by bridges. In front of these works the rebels had felled large numbers of trees forming an almost impenatrable abattis. Here the flying rebels were rallied, and made, for a while, a desperate stand. Our men fought until their ammunition was spent, when an order to charge bayonets was given, and the works were finally taken at the point of the bayonet, the enemy flying and leaving everything behind them.

In their retreat the rebels burnt the bridges communicating with the town, over both country roads. As they had two trains of cars in their rear, just across the bridges, they of course were able to carry off their wounded and dead. Their loss is therefore not certainly known, but must have been severe.

Before our troops reached this last work, they encountered another which was deserted before they came up. It was in front of this last fortification that we met with the most of our loss.

The force of the rebels is supposed to have been about 8,000. We captured a number of prisoners, including Col. Avery, who cursed his soldiers as cowards.

Just as the battle terminated the fog lifted and enabled our gunboats, which had been waiting for an opportunity to participate in the fight, to come up the river, and our troops were furnished with means of transportation across the Trent to Newburn.

The rebels attempted to fire the town on their retreat, but were prevented by the citizens, who extinguished the flames as fast as they were started by the soldiers.

None of our Generals or staff officers were killed or wounded. We captured from 30 to 50 cannon.

The officers of the rebels left their baggage behind, and the men threw away everything.

The fight terminated at 3 p. m., on Friday, when our troops remained masters of the field.

WASHINGTON, March 18.

HOUSE.—The house considered the senate bill increasing the efficiency of the medical board of the army.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Evening Journal.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.

The news of the evacuation by the rebels of Island No. 10 was sent to headquarters, in this city, by Gen. Pope, from New Madrid. The latest intelligence to the press, by way of Cairo, was up to Sunday evening, whilst Gen. Pope's dispatch was dated the next day. The fact that the newspapers here have no particulars by telegraph of the occupation of the Island by the Union troops has given rise to a doubt in the minds of some, and particularly the secessionists, as to whether Gen. Halleck's announcement in his spech at the Planter's House last evening was not premature.—But now there is no question in regard to the matter. Gen. Pope has telegraphed that in addition to the capture of the Island, the rebels abandoned, without destroying, nine large transport steamers, which must eventually fall (if they have not already) into our hands. The batteries at New Madrid and Point Pleasant completely blockaded the river, so that it was impossible for the rebel boats to pass.

The Union loss at the fight at Salem, Arkansas, is 5 killed and 25 wounded.—The rebel loss is 100. Among their killed is Col. Woodside.

The following are portions of a letter from a member of the 14th Illinois regiment, on board the steamer January, in the Tennessee river, twelve miles from the Alabama line, dated March 12:

Yesterday, about two o'clock, as we were steering up the river, crowds of Union men and women gathered on the banks of the river, and with the wildest enthusiasm and demonstrations of joy, hailed and welcomed us. One old lady held up both arms outstretched for fifteen or twenty minutes. The boys on board yelled at a furious rate at the novel sight; twenty-six sturdy, intelligent and well dressed Tennesseeans hailed us, and the boat put in and took them on board, and they enlisted in our regiment.

The rebels have begun the work of drafting in Carroll county, Tenn., and many of the Union citizens of that county have come to this place to join the Union army.

A secesher fired into one of the boats yesterday, and then skedaddled into the bushes. The shot or ball wounded one man slightly in the shoulder.

It is reported that there are many rebels not far from here. A company of cavalry went out yesterday. It has not yet returned. We shall leave here as soon as the expedition gets a good ready—perhaps to-morrow.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, March 18.

Advices from Nassau state that the British schooner Sir Robert Peel had arrived from Charleston, and the steamer Cicilian from Dunigon Creek, Ga. The crew of the latter deserted and have arrived here. They state that the Ella Wailey ran the blockade on the night of Feb. 11th, and crossed the Rattlesnake Shoal, where there was but two and a half fathoms of water, the ship drawing thirteen feet. Saw some lights at a distance, supposed to be one of the blockading vessels. Provisions at Charleston were very high. Butter and coffee one dollar per pound.

The Ella Wailey would go to Havana to be sold, and her owners intend to purchase the Spanish steamer Ocean Bird, said to be faster than the Ella Wailey.

The British ship Gladiator was at Nassau, supposed to be waiting for a cargo.

The Tribune's dispatch states further confirmation of previous statements, touching the barbarities perpetrated by the rebels upon the bodies of Union soldiers, buried on the battle field of Bull's Run, have been received. The lieutenant colonel of the 3d New Jersey regiment, the first regiment of infantry at Manassas, has in his possession a skull which he found hanging over a table in a rebel hut, inscribed with the words "Sic semper tyrannis," and the Virginia coat of arms. He satisfied himself also that they used skulls for ladles, and made pipes of the bones of our slaughtered men.

NEW YORK, March 19.

The following are the details of the battle at Newbern. Com. Roan was in command of the fleet of gunboats, and had sunken vessels, torpedoes and other rebel obstructions to overcome and pass, but surmounted all with but slight damage. Two brigs, three barques and 19 schooners were sunk by the rebels above the two rebel batteries. The latter were silenced, the sunken vessels passed, and our flag hoisted over the silenced batteries as our force went along. This was on Saturday afternoon, and night closed in. Sunday morning a heavy fog set in, but lifted, when our boats passed up safely and silenced Fort Thompson, with its two heavy columbiads; then Fort Ellis, with nine guns, was captured, after pretty brisk fighting, but the rebels fled soon in a panic, and our flag waved over another fort. Only one fort was left to be engaged, and Newbern would be at the mercy of our troops. This was Fort Lane, but the rebels having enough of the boats, offered little if any resistence, and fled.

The rebels then fired a large number of scows filled with rosin and turpentine, intending to float them down and burn our gunboats, but they got stuck, and burnt away furiously. The gunboats then shelled the depot and track, but our troops had then crossed, and a white flag was hoisted. Our navy did not lose a man.

The operations on land were briefly as follows: Our troops landed 12 miles below Newbern, Gen. Reno's brigade in the advance. Most of the troops being so anxious to land that nearly every regiment jumped into the water and waded ashore, and the whole division was ashore in less than two hours.

After marching two miles they found a deserted rebel camp with fires burning, and hot rebel breakfast untasted. A breastwork was only passed and the division bivouacked for the night.

Early in the morning the skirmish began. Foster's brigade, comprising the 23d, 24th, 25th and 26th Massachusetts regiments, with the 10th Connecticut in reserve, were in line and engaged a twenty gun battery of the rebels on their left flank, who showered grape, canister and shell upon them; also, heavy musketry. The 2d brigade, comprising 21st Massachusetts, 51st New York, 51st Pennsylvania and 9th New Jersey, engaged them on the right, and Gen. Parks' third brigade took position in front. The first brigade bore the brunt of the battle, and the 24th Massachusetts soon lost Major Stevenson and Lieut. Horton wounded, and the 23d Massachusetts lost Lieut. Col. Merritt by a cannon ball carrying away one side of his body. The 10th Connecticut were ordered to support the 27th Massachusetts, which had suffered severely.

The 3d brigade together with the 2d, executed a flank movement, and the order of charge bayonets was given. A hand to hand fight ensued of a most desperate character, when our troops drove the rebels out at point of bayonet, chasing them out of sight. The rebels took possession of a railroad train and fled from Newbern, burning two bridges and the Washington house, some private dwellings and a number of turpentine distilleries.

The slaves had commenced pilaging but were stopped.

A number of unionists were found in the city.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

PORTLAND, March 19.

The Anglo Saxon, Captain John Graham, from Liverpool 6th via Londonderry, arrived here this forenoon. Her dates are five days later. The mails and newspaper bag for the associated press were dispatched south by the early morning train, and will arrive in New York about 12 o'clock to-night.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The importance of the federal victory at Fort Donelson was generally recognized in England, causing an advance in American securities and a depression in cotton.

The London Times admits the recent successes of the federals, and their importance, and says they have been gained in a country where the allegiance of the population was divided, but they have scarcely brought the federal government any nearer than before to a reconstruction of the Union.

The London Morning Post says that both the Unionists and secessionists will look upon the present state of affairs affording grounds for a compromise of their difficulties, as the conquest of the south is beyond the attainment of the north on the one hand, and the complete establishment of their independence on the other, may be beyond the power of the south.

C. W. Field had an interview with Earl Russell recently, in regard to connecting Europe and America by a cable, from Ireland to Newfoundland. The interview is understood to have been satisfactory and encouraging.

The annual meeting of the Atlantic Telegraph Company was to be held at London on the 19th of March, to receive the report of directors.

Great excitement and violence attended the election of a member of parliament for Longford, Ireland. The military was called out and charged upon the rioters several times. No lives lost, but many persons injured. Sir Henry and Edward Mugridge, extensive iron manufacturers in London, had failed. Liabilities £150,000 to £200,000. The continuous fall in breadstuffs is alleged to have been the cause of their failure.

The Paris correspondent of the London News reports that many hundreds of arrests had taken place there. All men suspected of having been chiefs of barricades, in former insurrections, have been imprisoned. The measures had increased the uneasy feelings prevailing.

Bourse on the 5th was flat and lower. The emperor had sent a quarter of a million francs out of his private purse to be distributed among workmen at the great industrial centers.

The probabilities of a war between England and America had restricted operations in the produce business, and in coffee was limited, owing to prices, which had advanced to 69½a71.

The following is a summary of the news taken out by the Glasgow: There was no news of the City of Baltimore when the Glasgow left Liverpool. She was a week over due. Mr. Layard stated in the house of commons, in reply to enquiries, that an officer of the Sumter, named Myers, accompanied by a Mr. Thompson of Cadiz, had landed at Tangiers from a French merchant vessel, and were arrested by the United States consul, who requested the assistance of the Moorish troops for this purpose, but he, Layard, was not aware that at any pressure had been put on the Moorish government. Myers and Thompson had since been released.

Lord Palmerston in response to inquiries said the government originally intended sending a much larger force to Canada than that dispatched, and it was only in consequence of representations from the colonial authorities that the number was reduced. He believed the promptitude, vigor and power displayed by the government had tended greatly to a peaceful solution of the difficulty with America. The total number of British army is 227,000, and of these over 24,000 are in the American possessions.

The house of commons has adopted a resolution, declaring that the colonies exercising the right of self-government, ought to undertake the responsibility of providing for their own internal security.

It is stated that Mr. Peabody had offered, if the funds collected for the Albert Memorial should be devoted to the erection of a charitable institution, that he would give one hundred thousand pounds towards it, or failing in this, he had determined to expend the sum in building houses for the working classes of London. Mr. Peabody quits England for a time with a fortune of seventy thousand pounds per annum.

It is reported that Smith O'Brien has challenged Sir Robert Peel, offering to meet him in France or Belgium.

LIVERPOOL.—Breadstuffs generally firmer with a slight advance. Various circulars reports flour upward with an advance @ 3a6d per barrel. Quotations 27s 6da30. Wheat firmer and partially advanced.—Corn firm. Provisions quiet and steady. Sugar firm.

LONDON, March 6.

Wendell Phillips.

A year ago Wendell Phillips would have been sacrificed to the devil of Slavery anywhere on Pennsylvania avenue. To-day he was introduced by Mr. Sumner on to the floor of the senate. The Vice President left his seat and greeted him with marked respect. The attentions of senators to the apostle of abolition were of the most flattering character. Marvelous conquest of prejudices, and marvelous movement of northern ideas.

Listening to Wendell Phillips' lecture this evening in the Smithsonian Institute, were Senator Powell of Kentucky, and many other southern men of note, and the Vice-President of the United States, and congressmen of both houses thickly sat about the orator on the platform. During his lecture he was frequently interrupted by applause, which was no time so hearty as when he spoke of Gen. Fremont, who, on the eve of victory, a thousand miles from the capitol, at a word from the President sheathed his sword. Then, said Mr. Phillips,

America said to Europe, "I breed heroes; sit down at my feet." John Brown, first of all men, deserved the mountain department, next Fremont. Of the President's emancipation message he said it was a voice from the holy of the holies. It means just this: Gentlemen of the border states, now is your time to sell. The exigency may arise that will call me to take your slaves if you refuse to sell now.

The old negro preacher said that if there were a text in the Bible bidding him to go through a stone wall, he would jump at it, and trust to the Lord for getting him thro'. The President had gone at slavery. It was for the nation to get him through. The message was a very little wedge, but it was a wedge when in 1823 emancipation was initiated in the West Indies by a suggestion that the colonial legislatures should ameliorate the slave.

It was a very little wedge, but it was driven home. The President had not entered Canan, but he had turned his face toward it, saying, if I can't conquer with cannon, I will with emancipation. The message asserted the fitness to govern of the 19,000,000 who had shaken off their southern masters. There was no doubt of the constitutional power to do what the President threatened. Anything could be done in time of war to save the state.

In suspending the writ of habeas corpus, making treasury notes a legal tender, blockading Charleston with sunken stone vessels, the Constitution of Peace had been transgressed as it was in the embargo in 1812, in the purchase of the mouth of the Mississippi and of Florida, and the theft of Texas.

To-day Abraham Lincoln was the most unlimited despot this side of China. He sits to-day surrounded by thunderbolts forced by South Carolina. He has but to put forth his word and hurl one at the system of slavery. We must help the President to make this a war of ideas. The south had marched up to the Potomac with neither men, munitions, nor money—an idea.

We had men, munitions, money, and major generals, but not yet an idea. Quaker guns on one side, a Quaker general on the other—[an allusion which was received with tumultuous applause]—still, Mr. Phillips said, fight. Every cannon fired by Halleck or heard by McClellan (he never fired one) is a better anti-slavery lecturer than a thousand such as I. The end is sure.

If Abraham Lincoln does not have the negro on his side Jefferson Davis will have him on his. Two paths lead to the end, one a true path, one a false one, which shall make the acute disease chronic.

Appealing to his hearers to seize the golden moment, Mr. Phillips closed with words of burning eloquence which we will not mutilate by attempting to transcribe from memory.—Washington Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

FEDERAL SOLDIERS TOMAHAWKED, SCALPED, AND SHAMEFULLY MANGLED, AT THE BATTLE OF PEA RIDGE.—The following is a copy of the correspondence between Gens. Curtis and Van Dorn, subsequent to the battle of Pea Ridge:

HEADQUARTERS TRANS-MISSISSIPPI DISTRICT, March 9, 1862.

To the Commanding Officer U. S. Forces, Sugar Creek, Arkansas:

SIR: In accordance with the usages of war, I have the honor to request that you will permit the burial party, whom I send from this army with a flag of truce, to attend to the duty of collecting and interring the bodies of the officers and men who fell during the engagement of the 7th and 8th inst.

Very resp'y, Sir, your obd't serv't,
EARL VAN DORN,
Major General Commanding Army.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE S. W., PEA RIDGE, March 9, 1862.

Earl Van Dorn, Commanding Confederate Forces:

SIR: The General Commanding is in receipt of yours of the 9th, saying that in accordance with the usages of war you send a party to collect and bury the dead. I am directed to say, all possible facilities will be given for burying the dead, many of which have already been interred. Quite a number of your surgeons have fallen into our hands and are permitted to act under parole, and under a general order from Major General Halleck further liberty will be allowed them, if such accommodation be reciprocated by you.

The general regrets that we find on the battle field, contrary to civilized warfare, many of the federal dead, who were tomahawked, scalped, and their bodies shamefully mangled, and expresses a hope that this important struggle may not degenerate to a savage warfare.

By order of Brig. Gen. Curtis,
T. J. McKINNEY,
Acting Ass't Adj't General.

The Maine legislature has resolved in favor of the confiscation of rebel property, slaves and all.

SENATE.—A bill from the assembly amending the law of last session, extending the aid of $5 per month to the families of volunteers, occupied considerable time, in the discussion of an amendment extending this aid to dependent parents. The amendment was finally adopted and the bill passed.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Janesville, which passed the assembly under a suspension of the rules, was passed.

ASSEMBLY.—Mr. Bates introduced the bill to amend the charter of the city of Janesville, which was passed under a suspension of the rules.

The governor returned the bill authorizing a masonic lodge in Milwaukee to receive a conveyance of real estate, with his objections. The consideration of the bill was postponed until to morrow.

HOW MORGAN WAS DISPOSED OF.—"Sentinel," in his Albany letter to the New York World, referring to the recent death of Mr. Garlinghouse, the janitor of the New York senate, says:

"He knew much about the once famous Morgan masonic excitement. He has related to me the scene which occurred when those who had nerved themselves to the act of killing Morgan met in a lonely locality in Canada. There was a box placed, containing red and white balls—four red ones. As each one came to the box, without the least communication with each other, they took one of the balls; then at a distance from the place, each one looked to see what had been his choice. If a white one, he went his way, and held no converse with any one on the subject; but, if he found a red one in his hand, the doom was on him. At an appointed place he met the other three, who, like him, had found the fatal color, and there the order of the last dread act of this great error and tragedy was arranged. It is one of the strangest pages of our history."

DIED.

On the 15th, of Diptheria, IDA ADEL, only daughter of Alvin and Anna Norris, aged three years, two months and two days.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

OF THE

STATE OF WISCONSIN,

Presents advantages in all respects equal, and in some superior, to those of other companies doing business in the northwest. Its rates, its plan of operations, and its basis, are identical with the best companies in this country and Europe. Its age, and consequently its accumulations, are not equal to theirs in amount, but in proportion to the age of risks, and amount at risk, they will compare favorably with the most successful.

Its assets, which have resulted solely from the accumulations of three years, amount to $86,881.20, and its annual income, from policies now in force, over $65,000.

Its assets and business are constantly increasing. Its losses have been promptly paid. Its trustees are well known, honorable business men, and are as capable of managing an institution of this kind, as men in any other portion of the United States. The experience of the company thus far proves that we can have as reliable companies in the west as any where else, if we will, and self-interest certainly indicates that we should have them, and build up home interests in every practicable way. In the above respects, this company claims equality with its co-workers, and in the following superiority: It obtains the greater portion of its business in the healthiest portion of the United States, thus having the advantage of a less per centage of loss; it receives higher rates of interest on its investments, thus making more rapid accumulations—both very important items in Life Insurance; and its expenses have been less in proportion to its business than any other new company doing business in the United States.

Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

New England Courage.

There was some good fighting at Newbern. The victory was, at last, bravely won by a bayonet charge, which sent the enemy flying from the field. Our western boys have been indulging in some exultation, of late, over their victories, and of their charges upon the enemy with cold steel. They may now learn that cold steel is not confined to the west, but is as characteristic of New England as of any portion of the country. The Massachusetts soldiers, according to accounts, especially distinguished themselves at the battle of Newbern. Her sons, everywhere, will feel a glow of pride in the recital of the deeds of that day.

The Revolution in the Art of War.

The experience obtained during the present rebellion will almost entirely change our ideas and practice in relation to coast and sea port defences, and naval warfare. It has been demonstrated by Commodore Foote, that iron-clad gunboats, of a size small enough to navigate the rivers of moderate dimensions, which penetrate in numerous directions throughout our territory, are more than sufficient to reduce any open battery that can be built. In case of a war with a foreign nation, gun boats of the same kind can be used against us, and the question arises how shall we defend ourselves? Certainly not by forts as now constructed. The business of laying up piles of brick and stone, calling them impregnable forts, must now be ended. Steam floating batteries having 500 pounders will destroy them. Such batteries may be built which can carry as large and as distructive ordnance as can be handled on land, and will have the immense advantage of floating and of changing position and location at the will of the commander. Forts, therefore, either casemated or open earthworks, will be abandoned, as a means of defence, wherever there are navigable waters, and their places supplied by floating batteries and gun boats. Much of the time spent by our West Point graduates in learning the art of engineering and the construction of forts will be dispensed with, and a new class of men will be employed, acquainted with the management of steam vessels and the navigation of rivers.

It may be that the whole art of war is to be revolutionized along with that of building forts and the construction of naval vessels. Of what benefit will be the marching and countermarching of men, and the display of strategy on land, if the important commercial points are to be held by the power having the strongest steam batteries and gun boats? Suppose our Atlantic and Pacific coasts, and our northern lakes were swarming with such steam monsters as the Merrimac and Monitor, and in all our rivers there were hostile iron plated gun boats, of what use would be the collection of masses of troops on shore to oppose them?

The rebels with their Merrimac, Com. Foote with his river gunboats, and Captain Ericsson with his Monitor, have startled military and naval men, and almost in a day a revolution has been accomplished in the art of war. The influence of recent events are felt and acknowledged by congress, where large appropriations have been made for a steam navy, while other appropriations for forts and the common sort of naval vessels will soon entirely cease. The quicker we adapt ourselves to the new state of things the better. The sooner our old wooden vessels are converted into iron-clad batteries, the safer will be our harbors.

This revolution in warfare will make it necessary for the nations of Europe to adapt themselves to it by large expenditures of money, and many of the foremost nations now heavily in debt, will find it difficult to keep pace with us, if we act promptly and vigorously.

We hope for another benefit from the revolution which must take place in war—we shall get rid of a class of military and naval men, who assume to know all about war, and really know nothing, while by the power of a caste they have fostered, they could prevent the displacement in any other manner. This exclusive military class contains so great an amount of disloyalty, together with inefficiency, that they have, with rare exceptions, already become odious to the people, and their dismissal from the positions they occupy, would be hailed with satisfaction.

WASHINGTON, March 14.

Dr. Russell, of the London Times, has gone into the prophetic business again. He is now in this city, and expresses the opinion that the rebels will be beaten within the next three months, and that the rebellion will be put down.

"Our own correspondent" ought to guess right once in his life, but his poor success in former predictions makes his present opinions only matters of curiosity.

GEN. HUNTER.—This officer, who was supposed to have been deprived of any independent command by the recent new arrangement of departments, has been assigned to South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

From Porter's Mortar Fleet.

[Correspondence of the Evening Post.]

UNITED STATES SCHOONER ⎱
NORFOLK SCHOONER, AT SEA, March 1, 1862. ⎰

Yesterday afternoon we fired our 13-inch mortar for the first time at sea. The wind was very light, the sea quiet and the day pleasant and sunny. In order to make the trial sufficiently thorough, the piece was loaded as if for actual bombardment, with the full charge of twenty pounds of powder and a shell weighing over two hundred lbs.

The mortar was trained directly a-beam, and received an elevation of about 45 degrees. The machinery for training the piece is remarkably compact, and, although difficult to understand, with its eccentric and other novel pieces of iron-mongery, seems to work with ease and precision. The foresail, foretopsail and the headsails of the schooner were lowered away and hauled over to windward. All the ships company, except the powder division, who were below attending to their peculiar duties, stood on deck, mostly in the rear of the piece. The word to fire was given, and almost immediately the stunning report followed. The mortar recoiled 18 inches, and as the shell went humming away all eyes were turned to see it explode.

The shell was half a minute in its flight, and when it burst was apparently several hundred feet in the air, and distant by computation more than two miles. All we saw of the explosion was the sudden appearance in the sky of a little cloud of smoke resembling a balloon. Ten seconds after first seeing the cloud we heard the report. It sounded like an answering gun from one of the ships in the offing. The little cloud slowly increased in size, and faded away till its outlines were lost.

EFFECT OF THE FIRING.

Several curious incidents attended the firing. The facings of the bulwarks between the ports on the larboard side, that from which the shell was thrown, were blown off and fell into the water. Several glass windows were broken in the ward room, and sashes were violently thrown open. The partition between the cabin and ward room was started, and tables were jostled out of place. But these little mishaps obviously resulted from the concussion of the air caused by the explosion of so heavy a charge, and were not produced by the recoil of the mortar. Persons who were on duty below say that the shock which the vessel felt was less severe than that attending the discharge of one of our 32-pounders.

THE FLEET IN SOUTHERN WATERS.

[Under date of March 3, our correspondent announces the arrival of the fleet in southern waters, but, for obvious reasons, we suppress the name of the place at which it has rendezvoused.—EDS.]

MARCH 3.—All the vessels composing the three divisions of the mortar fleet are now anchored in * * * *. The Norfolk Packet, Oliver H. Lee and Maria J. Carlton arrived yesterday. The latter vessel experienced considerable rough weather. She lost her jibboom on the fourth night out, and on the sixth day rolled out her mainmast, which went by the board. Her commander gallantly held on, and arrived here after a passage of 26 days. She is the only vessel of the fleet whose voyage was not entirely prosperous. The schooner Dan Smith has not yet received her 32 pounders. With this exception the armament of all the vessels is complete. The Norfolk Packet is the only one which has tried her mortar.

It is said that the fleet will sail in squadron day after to-morrow.

WASHINGTON March 17.

HOUSE.—The house passed the senate joint resolution, that if any state during the present rebellion shall make any appropriation to pay the volunteers of that state, the secretary of war is authorized to accept the same and cause it to be applied by the paymaster general to the payments designated by the legislative act making the appropriation, in the same manner as if appropriated by act of congress: and also to make any regulations that may be necessary for the disbursement and proper application of such funds for the specific purpose for which they may be appropriated by the several states.

The house concurred in the report of the committee of conference on the bill regulating sutlers, who are authorized to have a lien on the soldiers to only one sixth of the amount paid them. Penalties are annexed for violating this provision.

A resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of war to inform the house by whose authority certain vessels were recently chartered, and the amount of compensation to be paid for the same, &c.

Mr. Lovejoy, of Illinois, asked leave to introduce a resolution instructing the committee on the District of Columbia to inquire and report by what authority Mrs. Brisloe, of Georgetown, seized, or caused to be seized, two men, and had them sent to Baltimore and imprisoned in the jail, and whether such arrest and imprisonment were not in violation of the following provision in the constitution, which says: "No person shall be deprived of his life and liberty without due process of law."

Mr. Wickliffe, of Kentucky, moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion was lost; yeas 43, nays 62.

The resolution was then passed.

The house went into committee of the whole on the tax bill, Mr. Colfax in the chair.

THE POTOMAC ARMY.—Mr. Forney, in a letter to his Philadelphia Press, states that when Gen. McClellan's grand army made its advance into Virginia, Sunday and Monday, many who had not estimated its numbers or its capacities were surprised at the magnitude and magnificence of the spectacle. The members of the British and French legations, who have been industrious in collecting all the available information in regard to this war, confess that they were astonished at the splendid material of the army, its almost perfect discipline and its admirable appointments. How it is to be subsisted in a country desolated by war will be one of the main difficulties of those having it in charge. Every pound of ammunition, forage and rations must be conveyed from the base of operations, or, should a junction be effected with Gen. Wool, from Fortress Monroe. Gen. McClellan left Washington on Monday. His reception among the troops, as he passed to their head, was one of the grandest ever witnessed in the country. The largest body of men ever put in motion at once since the battle of Solferino moved from the banks of the Potomac on that day. For many miles, on divers roads, the embattled ranks pressed forward, and the cheers that hailed the general at one point of the lines were taken up by regiment after regiment, and division after division, until the whole vast army rent the heavens with shouts of welcome. Gen. McClellan rode through the ranks in motion, his cap ever in his hand, returning the salutes of the enthusiastic soldiers.

THE FEAST OF PURIM.—The Jewish feast of Purim was celebrated last Sunday and Monday. This the great feast of rejoicing among all Israelites, and was instituted in memory of their deliverance from the conspiracy of Haman, as recorded in the Scripture book bearing the name of the beautiful Persian queen. The religious exercises on these occasions are peculiarly interesting and impressive.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE.
Office in Union Passenger Depot

Last Night's Report.

BALTIMORE, March 18.

Sergeant Major D. H. Johnson, of the 23d Massachusetts regiment, came a passenger by the steamer Commodore. From him we gather the following interesting particulars: Our troops under Gen. Burnside, landed on Thursday evening near the mouth of Swan Creek, on the west side of Nuese river, fifteen miles below Newbern. Owing to a dense fog the naval vessels did not participate in the fight.

Early on Friday morning the fight commenced: Our troops advanced along the country road, running parallel with the Nuese river, but a mile or two in the rear. The road was skirted on the west side by a railroad and dense swamp. All along the river side were a series of batteries which were taken by our troops, one after another after a bloody hand to hand contest. Our troops were divided into three brigades under Gens. Reno, Foster and Parks. We advanced gradually, the enemy deserting their guns, until we reached a line of earthworks extending across the road from the river to the swamp, on the west, a distance of some two miles. These earthworks were very strong. They were located about two miles south of Newbern, and between there and the city ran the river Trent. The country road and the railroad both passed through these works, and crossed into the city by bridges. In front of these works the rebels had felled large numbers of trees forming an almost impenatrable abattis. Here the flying rebels were rallied, and made, for a while, a desperate stand. Our men fought until their ammunition was spent, when an order to charge bayonets was given, and the works were finally taken at the point of the bayonet, the enemy flying and leaving everything behind them.

In their retreat the rebels burnt the bridges communicating with the town, over both country roads. As they had two trains of cars in their rear, just across the bridges, they of course were able to carry off their wounded and dead. Their loss is therefore not certainly known, but must have been severe.

Before our troops reached this last work, they encountered another which was deserted before they came up. It was in front of this last fortification that we met with the most of our loss.

The force of the rebels is supposed to have been about 8,000. We captured a number of prisoners, including Col. Avery, who cursed his soldiers as cowards.

Just as the battle terminated the fog lifted and enabled our gunboats, which had been waiting for an opportunity to participate in the fight, to come up the river, and our troops were furnished with means of transportation across the Trent to Newburn.

The rebels attempted to fire the town on their retreat, but were prevented by the citizens, who extinguished the flames as fast as they were started by the soldiers.

None of our Generals or staff officers were killed or wounded. We captured from 30 to 50 cannon.

The officers of the rebels left their baggage behind, and the men threw away everything.

The fight terminated at 3 p. m., on Friday, when our troops remained masters of the field.

WASHINGTON, March 18.

HOUSE.—The house considered the senate bill increasing the efficiency of the medical board of the army.

Special dispatch to the Chicago Evening Journal.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.

The news of the evacuation by the rebels of Island No. 10 was sent to headquarters, in this city, by Gen. Pope, from New Madrid. The latest intelligence to the press, by way of Cairo, was up to Sunday evening, whilst Gen. Pope's dispatch was dated the next day. The fact that the newspapers here have no particulars by telegraph of the occupation of the Island by the Union troops has given rise to a doubt in the minds of some, and particularly the secessionists, as to whether Gen. Halleck's announcement in his speech at the Planter's House last evening was not premature.—But now there is no question in regard to the matter. Gen. Pope has telegraphed that in addition to the capture of the Island, the rebels abandoned, without destroying, nine large transport steamers, which must eventually fall (if they have not already) into our hands. The batteries at New Madrid and Point Pleasant completely blockaded the river, so that it was impossible for the rebel boats to pass.

The Union loss at the fight at Salem, Arkansas, is 5 killed and 25 wounded.—The rebel loss is 100. Among their killed is Col. Woodside.

The following are portions of a letter from a member of the 14th Illinois regiment, on board the steamer January, in the Tennessee river, twelve miles from the Alabama line, dated March 12:

Yesterday, about two o'clock, as we were steering up the river, crowds of Union men and women gathered on the banks of the river, and with the wildest enthusiasm and demonstrations of joy, hailed and welcomed us. One old lady held up both arms outstretched for fifteen or twenty minutes. The boys on board yelled at a furious rate at the novel sight: twenty-six sturdy, intelligent and well dressed Tennesseeans hailed us, and the boat put in and took them on board, and they enlisted in our regiment.

The rebels have begun the work of drafting in Carroll county, Tenn., and many of the Union citizens of that county have come to this place to join the Union army.

A secesher fired into one of the boats yesterday, and then skedaddled into the bushes. The shot or ball wounded one man slightly in the shoulder.

It is reported that there are many rebels not far from here. A company of cavalry went out yesterday. It has not yet returned. We shall leave here as soon as the expedition gets a good ready—perhaps to-morrow.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, March 18.

Advices from Nassau state that the British schooner Sir Robert Peel had arrived from Charleston, and the steamer Cicilian from Dunigon Creek, Ga. The crew of the latter deserted and have arrived here. They state that the Ella Wailey ran the blockade on the night of Feb. 11th, and crossed the Rattlesnake Shoal, where there was but two and a half fathoms of water, the ship drawing thirteen feet. Saw some lights at a distance, supposed to be one of the blockading vessels. Provisions at Charleston were very high. Butter and coffee one dollar per pound.

The Ella Wailey would go to Havana to be sold, and her owners intend to purchase the Spanish steamer Ocean Bird, said to be faster than the Ella Wailey.

The British ship Gladiator was at Nassau, supposed to be waiting for a cargo.

The Tribune's dispatch states further confirmation of previous statements, touching the barbarities perpetrated by the rebels upon the bodies of Union soldiers, buried on the battle field of Bull's Run, have been received. The lieutenant colonel of the 3d New Jersey regiment, the first regiment of infantry at Manassas, has in his possession a skull which he found hanging over a table in a rebel hut, inscribed with the words "Sic semper tyrannis," and the Virginia coat of arms. He satisfied himself also that they used skulls for ladles, and made pipes of the bones of our slaughtered men.

NEW YORK, March 19.

The following are the details of the battle at Newbern. Com. Roan was in command of the fleet of gunboats, and had sunken vessels, torpedoes and other rebel obstructions to overcome and pass, but surmounted all with but slight damage. Two brigs, three barques and 19 schooners were sunk by the rebels above the two rebel batteries. The latter were silenced, the sunken vessels passed, and our flag hoisted over the silenced batteries as our force went along. This was on Saturday afternoon, and night closed in. Sunday morning a heavy fog set in, but lifted, when our boats passed up safely and silenced Fort Thompson, with its two heavy columbiads; then Fort Ellis, with nine guns, was captured, after pretty brisk fighting, but the rebels fled soon in a panic, and our flag waved over another fort. Only one fort was left to be engaged, and Newbern would be at the mercy of our troops. This was Fort Lane, but the rebels having enough of the boats, offered little if any resistence, and fled.

The rebels then fired a large number of scows filled with rosin and turpentine, intending to float them down and burn our gunboats, but they got stuck, and burnt away furiously. The gunboats then shelled the depot and track, but our troops had then crossed, and a white flag was hoisted. Our navy did not lose a man.

The operations on land were briefly as follows: Our troops landed 12 miles below Newbern, Gen. Reno's brigade in the advance. Most of the troops being so anxious to land that nearly every regiment jumped into the water and waded ashore, and the whole division was ashore in less than two hours.

After marching two miles they found a deserted rebel camp with fires burning, and hot rebel breakfast untasted. A breastwork was only passed and the division bivouacked for the night.

Early in the morning the skirmish began. Foster's brigade, comprising the 23d, 24th, 25th and 26th Massachusetts regiments, with the 10th Connecticut in reserve, were in line and engaged a twenty gun battery of the rebels on their left flank, who showered grape, canister and shell upon them; also, heavy musketry. The 2d brigade, comprising 21st Massachusetts, 51st New York, 51st Pennsylvania and 9th New Jersey, engaged them on the right, and Gen. Parks' third brigade took position in front. The first brigade bore the brunt of the battle, and the 24th Massachusetts soon lost Major Stevenson and Lieut. Horton wounded, and the 23d Massachusetts lost Lieut. Col. Merritt by a cannon ball carrying away one side of his body. The 10th Connecticut were ordered to support the 27th Massachusetts, which had suffered severely.

The 3d brigade together with the 2d, executed a flank movement, and the order of charge bayonets was given. A hand to hand fight ensued of a most desperate character, when our troops drove the rebels out at point of bayonet, chasing them out of sight. The rebels took possession of a railroad train and fled from Newbern, burning two bridges and the Washington house, some private dwellings and a number of turpentine distilleries.

The slaves had commenced pilaging but were stopped.

A number of unionists were found in the city.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

PORTLAND, March 19.

The Anglo Saxon, Captain John Graham, from Liverpool 6th via Londonderry, arrived here this forenoon. Her dates are five days later. The mails and newspaper bag for the associated press were dispatched south by the early morning train, and will arrive in New York about 12 o'clock to-night.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The importance of the federal victory at Fort Donelson was generally recognized in England, causing an advance in American securities and a depression in cotton.

The London Times admits the recent successes of the federals, and their importance, and says they have been gained in a country where the allegiance of the population was divided, but they have scarcely brought the federal government any nearer than before to a reconstruction of the Union.

The London Morning Post says that both the Unionists and secessionists will look upon the present state of affairs affording grounds for a compromise of their difficulties, as the conquest of the south is beyond the attainment of the north on the one hand, and the complete establishment of their independence on the other, may be beyond the power of the south.

C. W. Field had an interview with Earl Russell recently, in regard to connecting Europe and America by a cable, from Ireland to Newfoundland. The interview is understood to have been satisfactory and encouraging.

The annual meeting of the Atlantic Telegraph Company was to be held at London on the 19th of March, to receive the report of directors.

Great excitement and violence attended the election of a member of parliament for Longford, Ireland. The military was called out and charged upon the rioters several times. No lives lost, but many persons injured. Sir Henry and Edward Mugridge, extensive iron manufacturers in London, had failed. Liabilities £150,000 to £200,000. The continuous fall in breadstuffs is alleged to have been the cause of their failure.

The Paris correspondent of the London News reports that many hundreds of arrests had taken place there. All men suspected of having been chiefs of barricades, in former insurrections, have been imprisoned. The measures had increased the uneasy feelings prevailing.

Bourse on the 5th was flat and lower. The emperor had sent a quarter of a million francs out of his private purse to be distributed among workmen at the great industrial centers.

The probabilities of a war between England and America had restricted operations in the produce business, and in coffee was limited, owing to prices, which had advanced to 69½a71.

The following is a summary of the news taken out by the Glasgow: There was no news of the City of Baltimore when the Glasgow left Liverpool. She was a week over due. Mr. Layard stated in the house of commons, in reply to enquiries, that an officer of the Sumter, named Myers, accompanied by a Mr. Thompson of Cadiz, had landed at Tangiers from a French merchant vessel, and were arrested by the United States consul, who requested the assistance of the Moorish troops for this purpose, but he, Layard, was not aware that at any pressure had been put on the Moorish government. Myers and Thompson had since been released.

Lord Palmerston in response to inquiries said the government originally intended sending a much larger force to Canada than that dispatched, and it was only in consequence of representations from the colonial authorities that the number was reduced. He believed the promptitude, vigor and power displayed by thd government had tended greatly to a peaceful solution of the difficulty with America. The total number of British army is 227,000, and of these over 24,000 are in the American possessions.

The house of commons has adopted a resolution, declaring that the colonies exercising the right of self-government, ought to undertake the responsibility of providing for their own internal security.

It is stated that Mr. Peabody had offered, if the funds collected for the Albert Memorial should be devoted to the erection of a charitable institution, that he would give one hundred thousand pounds towards it, or failing in this, he had determined to expend the sum in building houses for the working classes of London. Mr. Peabody quits England for a time with a fortune of seventy thousand pounds per annum.

It is reported that Smith O'Brien has challenged Sir Robert Peel, offering to meet him in France or Belgium.

LIVERPOOL.—Breadstuffs generally firmer with a slight advance. Various circulars reports flour upward with an advance ½ 3a6d per barrel. Quotations 27s 6da30. Wheat firmer and partially advanced.—Corn firm. Provisions quiet and steady. Sugar firm.

LONDON, March 6.

Breadstuffs, upward tendency. Coffee firm. Tea quiet and steady.

NEW YORK, March 19.

Wendell Phillips.

A year ago Wendell Phillips would have been sacrificed to the devil of Slavery anywhere on Pennsylvania avenue. To-day he was introduced by Mr. Sumner on to the floor of the senate. The Vice President left his seat and greeted him with marked respect. The attentions of senators to the apostle of abolition were of the most flattering character. Marvelous conquest of prejudices, and marvelous movement of northern ideas.

Listening to Wendell Phillips' lecture this evening in the Smithsonian Institute, were Senator Powell of Kentucky, and many other southern men of note, and the Vice-President of the United States, and congressmen of both houses thickly sat about the orator on the platform. During his lecture he was frequently interrupted by applause, which was no time so hearty as when he spoke of Gen. Fremont, who, on the eve of victory, a thousand miles from the capitol, at a word from the President sheathed his sword. Then, said Mr. Phillips,

America said to Europe, "I breed heroes; sit down at my feet." John Brown, first of all men, deserved the mountain department, next Fremont. Of the President's emancipation message he said it was a voice from the holy of the holies. It means just this: Gentlemen of the border states, now is your time to sell. The exigency may arise that will call me to take your slaves if you refuse to sell now.

The old negro preacher said that if there were a text in the Bible bidding him to go through a stone wall, he would jump at it, and trust to the Lord for getting him thro'. The President had gone at slavery. It was for the nation to get him through. The message was a very little wedge, but it was a wedge when in 1823 emancipation was initiated in the West Indies by a suggestion that the colonial legislatures should ameliorate the slave.

It was a very little wedge, but it was driven home. The President had not entered Canan, but he had turned his face toward it, saying, if I can't conquer with cannon, I will with emancipation. The message asserted the fitness to govern of the 19,000,000 who had shaken off their southern masters. There was no doubt of the constitutional power to do what the President threatened. Anything could be done in time of war to save the state.

In suspending the writ of habeas corpus, making treasury notes a legal tender, blockading Charleston with sunken stone vessels, the Constitution of Peace had been transgressed as it was in the embargo in 1812, in the purchase of the mouth of the Mississippi and of Florida, and the theft of Texas.

To-day Abraham Lincoln was the most unlimited despot this side of China. He sits to-day surrounded by thunderbolts forced by South Carolina. He has but to put forth his word and hurl one at the system of slavery. We must help the President to make this a war of ideas. The south had marched up to the Potomac with neither men, munitions, nor money—an idea.

We had men, munitions, money, and major generals, but not yet an idea. Quaker guns on one side, a Quaker general on the other—[an allusion which was received with tumultuous applause]—still, Mr. Phillips said, fight. Every cannon fired by Halleck or heard by McClellan (he never fired one) is a better anti-slavery lecturer than a thousand such as I. The end is sure.

If Abraham Lincoln does not have the negro on his side Jefferson Davis will have him on his. Two paths lead to the end, one a true path, one a false one, which shall make the acute disease chronic.

Appealing to his hearers to seize the golden moment, Mr. Phillips closed with words of burning eloquence which we will not mutilate by attempting to transcribe from memory.—Washington Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

HEADQUARTERS TRANS-MISSISSIPPI DISTRICT, ⎱
March 9, 1862. ⎰

To the Commanding Officer U. S. Forces, Sugar Creek, Arkansas:

SIR: In accordance with the usages of war, I have the honor to request that you will permit the burial party, whom I send from this army with a flag of truce, to attend to the duty of collecting and interring the bodies of the officers and men who fell during the engagement of the 7th and 8th inst.

Very resp'y, Sir, your obd't serv't,
EARL VAN DORN,
Major General Commanding Army.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE S. W. ⎱
PEA RIDGE, March 9, 1862. ⎰

Earl Van Dorn, Commanding Confederate Forces:

SIR: The General Commanding is in receipt of yours of the 9th, saying that in accordance with the usages of war you send a party to collect and bury the dead. I am directed to say, all possible facilities will be given for burying the dead, many of which have already been interred. Quite a number of your surgeons have fallen into our hands and are permitted to act under parole, and under a general order from Major General Halleck further liberty will be allowed them, if such accommodation be reciprocated by you.

The general regrets that we find on the battle field, contrary to civilized warfare, many of the federal dead, who were tomahawked, scalped, and their bodies shamefully mangled, and expresses a hope that this important struggle may not degenerate to a savage warfare.

By order of Brig. Gen. Curtis,
T. J. McKINNEY,
Acting Ass't Adj't General.

The Maine legislature has resolved in favor of the confiscation of rebel property, slaves and all.

Legislative.

TUESDAY, March 18th.

SENATE.—A bill from the assembly amending the law of last session, extending the aid of $5 per month to the families of volunteers, occupied considerable time, in the discussion of an amendment extending this aid to dependent parents. The amendment was finally adopted and the bill passed.

The bill to amend the charter of the city of Janesville, which passed the assembly under a suspension of the rules, was passed.

ASSEMBLY.—Mr. Bates introduced the bill to amend the charter of the city of Janesville, which was passed under a suspension of the rules.

The governor returned the bill authorizing a masonic lodge in Milwaukee to receive a conveyance of real estate, with his objections. The consideration of the bill was postponed until to-morrow.

HOW MORGAN WAS DISPOSED OF.—"Sentinel," in his Albany letter to the New York World, referring to the recent death of Mr. Garlinghouse, the janitor of the New York senate, says:

"He knew much about the once famous Morgan masonic excitement. He has related to me the scene which occurred when those who had nerved themselves to the act of killing Morgan met in a lonely locality in Canada. There was a box placed, containing red and white balls—four red ones. As each one came to the box, without the least communication with each other, they took one of the balls; then at a distance from the place, each one looked to see what had been his choice. If a white one, be went his way, and held no converse with any one on the subject; but, if he found a red one in his hand, the doom was on him. At an appointed place he met the other three, who, like him, had found the fatal color, and there the order of the last dread act of this great error and tragedy was arranged. It is one of the strangest pages of our history."

DIED.

On the 13th, of Diptheria, IDA ADEL, only daughter of Alvin and Anna Norris, aged three years, two months and two days.

A Slight Cold,
Cough, Hoarseness or Sore Throat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Cough or Slight Cold in its first stage; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs.

Brown's Bronchial Troches were first introduced eleven years ago. It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, the Hacking Cough in Consumption, and numerous affections of the Throat, giving immediate relief.

The Mutual Life Insurance Company

OF THE

STATE OF WISCONSIN,

Presents advantages in all respects equal, and in some superior, to those of other companies doing business in the northwest. Its rates, its plan of operations, and its basis, are identical with the best companies in this country and Europe. Its age, and consequently its accumulations, are not equal to theirs in amount, but in proportion to the age of risks, and amount at risk, they will compare favorably with the most successful.

Its assets, which have resulted solely from the accumulations of three years, amount to $86,881.20, and its annual income, from policies now in force, over $65,000.

Its assets and business are constantly increasing. Its losses have been promptly paid. Its trustees are well known, honorable business men, and are as capable of managing an institution of this kind, as men in any other portion of the United States. The experience of the company thus far proves that we can have as reliable companies in the west as any where else, if we will, and self-interest certainly indicates that we should have them, and build up home interests in every practicable way. In the above respects, this company claims equality with its co-workers, and in the following superiority: It obtains the greater portion of its business in the healthiest portion of the United States, thus having the advantage of a less per centage of loss; it receives higher rates of interest on its investments, thus making more rapid accumulations—both very important items in Life Insurance; and its expenses have been less in proportion to its business than any other new company doing business in the United States.

Charter Amendments Passed.

The amendments to the charter of this city passed both houses of the legislature yesterday. We understand they have not been changed from the form in which the committee prepared them, except to strike out the provision appointing the treasurer and making the additional school commissioner elective by the people.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE MANASSAS ARMY?—Tom Lappin has received over his Afton line the answer to this question. It has disbanded and gone home.

DEATHS AMONG THE REBEL PRISONERS.—Up to Sunday night the total number of deaths that have occurred among the rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas is eighty-three. Monday there were three hundred and sixty-eight in the hospitals.

RIVER NAVIGATION.—A week ago the Chicago river was blockaded with ice. Now it is entirely clear of it, and the tugboat E. B. Ward, with steam up, is busily plying up and down, startling the bridge-tenders with her saucy scream, and towing vessels to and from the dry docks, etc. This begins to look like an opening of business.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.—The President has appointed John P. Upsher, of Indiana, assistant secretary of the interior department, the office having been created by a late act of congress.

This keeps up the Indiana character of the department.

ANOTHER INVENTION.—Our former fellow citizen, Wm. M. Doty, has made another printing office invention. The Detroit Free Press says:

NEW MAILING MACHINE.—Mr. Wm. M. Doty, of the Michigan Farmer, has just invented a mailing machine which, for cheapness, simplicity, durability and accuracy, is decidedly in advance of anything of the kind that has yet been constructed. It imprints the name directly on the paper without the intervention of slips, which, of course, is more or less liable to be rubbed off the paper on which they are placed. The list of names is set up and locked up in an ordinary form, and the machine, being so arranged as to be self-moving every time an impression is given, passes over the column, never missing a name. So simple in its movements that a child can direct it, and so cheap as to place it within the reach of every printing office in the country, it cannot fail of being very generally adopted.

NEW AUCTION AND COMMISSION HOUSE.—Mr. J. Terhune, jr., formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., has established a new auction and commission house in this city, which he intends shall commend itself to the confidence of the public by the manner in which its business will be conducted. He has located in Myers new block. A reference to his advertisement will show the character of the business proposed to be conducted by him.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—There will be a meeting of the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening, March 21st, at 7½ o'clock, at the office of H. N. Comstock. A general attendance is requested, as business of importance will be transacted.

IRA MILTIMORE, Prest.

☞ The army wagons now constructing by the contractor at Racine, weigh 2,200 pounds each. They are very spacious, and are built in the most substantial manner, the tires having a breadth of two and a half inches. They are calculated for the muddy regions of Dixie.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.—This gentleman has been engaged to lecture in Madison, March 31st, on "The War, and the Way Out of It." Why can he not be engaged here?

THE REBEL PRISONERS.—Col. Cutts and other staff officers have arrived at Springfield. They constitute a commission to examine into the condition of the prisoners at Camp Butler and their willingness to take the oath of allegiance. Of the 1,600 prisoners there, 1,200 are ready to take the oath.

The commissioners are to report to Gen. Halleck, who has complete jurisdiction in the matter. It is noticed that the most penitent rebels are Tennesseeans, while the most refractory are from Alabama and Mississippi.

The commission will also visit Camp Douglas for the same purpose.

A TRIBUTE TO BRAVERY.—The Norfolk Day Book speaking of the naval battle at Fortress Monroe, alluding to the Cumberland, which went down with colors flying, says:

"Slowly the Virginia steams back, and the Cumberland, sunk now to her white streak, opens upon her again. A gallant man fought that ship—a man worthy to have maintained a better cause. Gun after gun he fired, lower and lower sunk his ship—his last discharge comes from his pivot gun—the ship lurches to starboard—now to port, his flag streams out wildly, and now the Cumberland goes down on her beam ends, at once a monument and an epitaph of the gallant men who fought her."

NO MORE SLAVE CATCHING FOR REBELS.—The following are the yeas and nays in the senate on the final passage of the bill prohibiting slave-catching by army officers, under penalty of dismissal from the service:

Yeas.—Messrs. Anthony, Browning, Chandler, Clark, Collamer, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Hale, Harlan, Harris, Howard, Howe, King, Lane of Ind., Lane of Kan., McDougal, Morrill, Pomeroy, Sherman, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson of Mass., and Wright—29.

Nays.—Messrs. Bayard, Carlile, Davis, Henderson, Latham, Powell, Rice, Saulsbury and Wilson of Mo.—9.

Arrival of the First Wisconsin Cavalry.

The Chicago Journal of Tuesday, says, the first regiment Wisconsin cavalry, Col. Edward Daniels, arrived in this city from Kenosha at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The regiment is composed of twelve hundred as fine looking men as one would wish to see. They have but a small portion of their horses, but their equipments are of the most complete order.

One of the companies of this regiment is composed entirely of teachers and students, and is commanded by Captain (Professor) J. Connatty, late principal of the Kenosha high school. The entire regiment is a credit to the state that furnished it.

The following is the regimental roster:

THE FLOOD AT CAIRO—FORT HOLT AND BIRD'S POINT.—Fort Holt and the country for several hundred yards around it are now entirely submerged. A rise of a few inches more in the river would be apt to carry away the barracks and all other buildings erected. This, however, would be only a trifling loss, as they are built wholly of logs, all except the roofs. Bird's Point is yet high and dry and in no danger of overflow. The rise in the river has now attained about the average height of spring freshets, being about six feet below the flood of 1858. Much of the surrounding country is under water, particularly that skirting the river in Kentucky. No apprehensions are entertained for Cairo. The levees are in thorough order, and could resist a flood even greater than that of four years ago.—Cairo Gazette, 16th.

Charter Amendments Passed.

The amendments to the charter of this city passed both houses of the legislature yesterday. We understand they have not been changed from the form in which the committee prepared them, except to strike out the provision appointing the treasurer and making the additional school commissioner elective by the people.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF THE MANASSAS ARMY?—Tom Lappin has received over his Afton line the answer to this question. It has disbanded and gone home.

DEATHS AMONG THE REBEL PRISONERS.—Up to Sunday night the total number of deaths that have occurred among the rebel prisoners at Camp Douglas is eighty-three. Monday there were three hundred and sixty-eight in the hospitals.

RIVER NAVIGATION.—A week ago the Chicago river was blockaded with ice. Now it is entirely clear of it, and the tug-boat E. B. Ward, with steam up, is busily plying up and down, startling the bridge-tenders with her saucy scream, and towing vessels to and from the dry docks, etc. This begins to look like an opening of business.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.—The President has appointed John P. Upsher, of Indiana, assistant secretary of the interior department, the office having been created by a late act of congress.

This keeps up the Indiana character of the department.

ANOTHER INVENTION.—Our former fellow citizen, Wm. M. Doty, has made another printing office invention. The Detroit Free Press says:

NEW MAILING MACHINE.—Mr. Wm. M. Doty, of the Michigan Farmer, has just invented a mailing machine which, for cheapness, simplicity, durability and accuracy, is decidedly in advance of anything of the kind that has yet been constructed. It imprints the name directly on the paper without the intervention of slips, which, of course, is more or less liable to be rubbed off the paper on which they are placed. The list of names is set up and locked up in an ordinary form, and the machine, being so arranged as to be self-moving every time an impression is given, passes over the column, never missing a name. So simple in its movements that a child can direct it, and so cheap as to place it within the reach of every printing office in the country, it cannot fail of being very generally adopted.

NEW AUCTION AND COMMISSION HOUSE.—Mr. J. Terhune, jr., formerly of Grand Rapids, Mich., has established a new auction and commission house in this city, which he intends shall commend itself to the confidence of the public by the manner in which its business will be conducted. He has located in Myers new block. A reference to his advertisement will show the character of the business proposed to be conducted by him.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—There will be a meeting of the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening, March 21st, at 7½ o'clock, at the office of H. N. Comstock. A general attendance is requested, as business of importance will be transacted.

IRA MILTIMORE, Prest.

☞ The army wagons now constructing by the contractor at Racine, weigh 2,200 pounds each. They are very spacious, and are built in the most substantial manner, the tires having a breadth of two and a half inches. They are calculated for the muddy regions of Dixie.

WENDELL PHILLIPS.—This gentleman has been engaged to lecture in Madison, March 31st, on "The War, and the Way Out of I." Why can he not be engaged here?

THE REBEL PRISONERS.—Col. Cutts and other staff officers have arrived at Springfield. They constitute a commission to examine into the condition of the prisoners at Camp Butler and their willingness to take the oath of allegiance. Of the 1,600 prisoners there, 1,200 are ready to take the oath.

The commissioners are to report to Gen. Halleck, who has complete jurisdiction in the matter. It is noticed that the most penitent rebels are Tennesseeans, while the most refractory are from Alabama and Mississippi.

The commission will also visit Camp Douglas for the same purpose.

A TRIBUTE TO BRAVERY.—The Norfolk Day Book speaking of the naval battle at Fortress Monroe, alluding to the Cumberland, which went down with colors flying, says:

"Slowly the Virginia steams back, and the Cumberland, sunk now to her white streak, opens upon her again. A gallant man fought that ship—a man worthy to have maintained a better cause. Gun after gun he fired, lower and lower sunk his ship—his last discharge comes from his pivot gun—the ship lurches to starboard—now to port, his flag streams out wildly, and now the Cumberland goes down on her beam ends, at once a monument and an epitaph of the gallant men who fought her."

NO MORE SLAVE CATCHING FOR REBELS.—The following are the yeas and nays in the senate on the final passage of the bill prohibiting slave-catching by army officers, under penalty of dismissal from the service:

Yeas.—Messrs. Anthony, Browning, Chandler, Clark, Collamar, Dixon, Doolittle, Fessenden, Foot, Foster, Grimes, Hale, Harlan, Harris, Howard, Howe, King, Lane of Ind., Lane of Kan., McDougal, Morrill, Pomeroy, Sherman, Sumner, Ten Eyck, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson of Mass., and Wright—29.

Nays.—Messrs. Bayard, Carlile, Davis, Menderson, Latham, Powell, Rice, Saulsbury and Wilson of Mo.—9.

Arrival of the First Wisconsin Cavalry.

The Chicago Journal of Tuesday, says, the first regiment Wisconsin cavalry, Col. Edward Daniels, arrived in this city from Kenosha at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The regiment is composed of twelve hundred as fine looking men as one would wish to see. They have but a small portion of their horses, but their equipments are of the most complete order.

One of the companies of this regiment is composed entirely of teachers and students, and is commanded by Captain (Professor) J. Connatty, late principal of the Kenosha high school. The entire regiment is a credit to the state that furnished it.

The following is the regimental roster:

FIELD AND STAFF.

Colonel—Edward Daniels; Lieut. Col.——; 1st Major—O. H. La Grange; 2d—H. Pomeroy; 3d—W. H. Torrey; Quartermaster—J. C. Mann; Acting Adjutant—R. L. Gore.

MEDICAL STAFF.

Surgeon—H. K. Gregory; Assistants—C. H. Lord, H. W. Cansdell; Chaplain—G. W. Dunmore.

NON-COMMISSIONED STAFF.

Sergeant-Major—H. A. Blood; Q. M. Sergeant—C. N. Hoag; Commissary Sergeant—H. Calkins; 1st Hospital Steward—J. Reed; 2d—H. J. Schulties.

First Battalion—1st Major, O. H. La Grange; Adjutant, R. L. Gove; Sergeant Major, George Seaton.

Squadron A—Capt. Mars; Lieuts. Howland and Phillips.

Squadron M—Capt. Connatty; Lieuts. Barter and Owens.

Squadron G—Capt. Paine; Lieuts. Shipman and Moshier.

Squadron D—Capt. Bruell; Lieuts. Mernee and Fredricks.

Second Battalion—Major, H. Pomeroy; Adjutant, E. T. Brooks.

Squadron F—Capt. Hyar; Lieuts. Jones and Getchell.

Squadron I—Capt. Hoyt; Lieuts. Porter and Cooper.

Squadron E—Capt. Chittenden; Lieuts. Hunt and Johnson.

Squadron B—Capt. Eggleston; Lieuts. Hobbs and Consard.

Third Battalion—Major, W. H. Torrey; Adjutant, Geo. Clinton; Serg. Major, —— Holcomb.

Squadron L—Capt. Herndon; Lieuts. Hilliard and Kenney.

Squadron C—Capt. Hecker; Lieuts. Burroughs and Hansford.

Squadron H—Capt. Smith; Lieuts. Comstock and Cooper.

Squadron K—Capt. Seaton; Lieuts. Coyle and Atwater.

THE FLOOD AT CAIRO—FORT HOLT AND BIRD'S POINT.—Fort Holt and the country for several hundred yards around it are now entirely submerged. A rise of a few inches more in the river would be apt to carry away the barracks and all other buildings erected. This, however, would be only a trifling loss, as they are built wholly of logs, all except the roofs. Bird's Point is yet high and dry and in no danger of overflow. The rise in the river has now attained about the average height of spring freshets, being about six feet below the flood of 1858. Much of the surrounding country is under water, particularly that skirting the river in Kentucky. No apprehensions are entertained for Cairo. The levees are in thorough order, and could resist a flood, even greater than that of four years ago.—Cairo Gazette, 16th.

The only Correct and Complete

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

THE SOUTHERN REBELLION

and the

WAR FOR THE UNION:

A History of the

Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,

and

Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict,

TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES,

In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the history as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere diary, nor a mere enumeration of dry and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and luminous, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. The above publication, afterwards bound in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand children, as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to every citizen, every family, every office, every library: and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still Glorious Land.

HISTORY OF THE WAR.

and the

WAR FOR THE UNION:

A History of the

Rise and Progress of the Rebellion,

and

Consecutive Narrative of Events and Incidents, from the First Stages of the Treason Against the Republic down to the Close of the Conflict.

TOGETHER WITH IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS AND EXTRACTS FROM REMARKABLE SPEECHES.

In Weekly Parts, 32 pages, large 8vo, Price 10 Cents.

THE want of an authentic and thorough History of the Rebellion for present reference and for the preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports, dispatches, letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitate, from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.

To meet this want, and to produce a work of permanent value as well as of present interest, the publisher has arranged for the issue of the history as above set forth—in a form and at a price which shall render it acceptable to all.

This history will tell the STORY AS IT IS, giving a clear, consecutive narrative of the entire movement, including all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important documents and extracts from remarkable speeches. It will not be a mere ordinary, nor a mere enumeration of day and naked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newspapers, but will portray in connected and interesting narrative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digest all evidence—will sift all rumors and reports—will fix upon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style suited to its theme—at once graphic, earnest and animated, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of the time.

It is true, everybody reads the newspapers, and the reports of the newspapers are the thing of the day; a traditionary evidence of the moment, and not a correct, connected and complete history. Like the Revolution, afterwards found in a handsome volume, will be a book for the family, which will be cared like the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grandchildren as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and useful history to every citizen, every family, every office, every library; and is given to the public in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patriot, every Union man, every good citizen in our still glorious Land.
